INSURANCE - Liability. Policy exclusion for "Infringement of Copyright, Patent, Trademark or Trade Secret" barred coverage for claims by Buckminster Fuller's estate.

...Commercial general liability (CGL) insurance policy exclusion, from personal and advertising injury coverage, for "Infringement of Copyright, Patent, Trademark or Trade Secret," applicable to injury "arising out of the infringement of copyright, patent, trademark, trade secret or other intellectual property rights," applied to intellectual property claims, including right to publicity and misappropriation of likeness claims, which inventor's estate brought against insured toy company based on its use of inventor's name in toy; exclusion, on standard insurance industry form, was universally referred to as the "Intellectual..."

...The Estate asserts that to apply the intellectual property exclusion must specify each type of excluded intellectual property claim...
